Get to Know LC Nature Park at Johnson Memorial Library

[HICKSVILLE] – All are invited to discover LC Nature Park during a special presentation Oct. 3 from 5–6 p.m. at Johnson Memorial Library (JML), 116 W. High St., Hicksville.

The LC Nature Park, located in Roanoke, Ind., is a place of preservation and education, where students can observe a variety of flora and fauna, particularly elk and bison.

Dr. George Manning, director of education & land stewardship at the park, will speak of his experiences in the park, plus share some elk and bison artifacts with the group.

Manning, a lifelong resident of Fort Wayne, received his PhD in plant biology from Southern Illinois University, where he studied the interactions of bison grazing and interannual climate variation in the tallgrass prairies of the Flint Hills in eastern Kansas. Now, he spends his time on educational programming, outreach, and stewardship of the park's 200 acres.

The program is free and open to all ages. For more information, contact the library at 419-542-6200.
